Average daily contributions (R$ mm)

In February, the pension plans contributions were down 0.6% YoY, due to the lower average ticket of sporadic contributions, partially offset by the evolution in the number of plans sold. Meanwhile, net inflows amounted to R$331 million (source Quantum Axis), versus a net outflow of R$247 million in February 2022, helped by the lower volume of portability out and the reduction of payments to beneficiaries in case of death of the plan holder. This reduction in outflow supported the 10.5% growth of pension reserves in the period.

Average daily collections (R$ mm)

The premium bonds collections decreased 22.4% YoY, driven by the lower number of bonds sold and the drop in the average ticket of unique payment bonds. This effect was partially offset by the higher average ticket of monthly payment bonds.
